

API Verify™ is a management tool that certifies traditional health processes and verifies age, source, and movement of individual cattle.

How API Verify™ Works

1. A producer provides calf records to an API Verifier
2. Producer answers some simple questions about his/her operation and provides samples of support documentation to complete the approval process.
3. The API Verifier enters the records into the API Verify electronic data storage.
 - * Records are accessible only by the API Verifier and the producer
 - * Records can be updated as needed
 - * Records are completely secure.
4. Producer installs program compliant EID ear tags in calves prior to movement off of ranch.
5. Prior to shipping cattle the API Verifier prints and signs the API Verify™ certificate.
6. Or the API Verifier can electronically transmit the records to the next owner.

Why API Verify™ is Beneficial

API Verify™ is an approved PVP program that satisfies market and government demands for Verification of:

- * Age—U.S. trading partners want beef from animals of certain age.
- * Source—Retailers need to know where their product came from.

Animal Profiling International, Inc. is an American company dedicated to the improvement of animal health management through risk-assessment technologies and advanced animal identification systems. The company's goal is to improve cattle health, performance, management and food safety techniques for operators in the beef and dairy industries. API's industry experts provide the products and services that hands-on cattle managers need to make their jobs easier, more efficient, and more profitable.
